WHAT WE DO

PARTICIPATORY BUDGETING (PB) is a better way to manage public money. It is a democratic process in which community members decide how to spend part of a public budget. PB gives ordinary people real decision-making power over real money.

We have engaged more than 200,000 PEOPLE in 17 CITIES to decide how to spend over $170 MILLION.

HOW PARTICIPATORY BUDGETING WORKS

Communities make budget decisions through an annual cycle of meetings and voting.

Each community designs their own PB process but most experiences follow a similar basic process:

1. Community members brainstorm ideas for local improvements
2. Volunteers develop project proposals
3. The community votes on proposals
4. The top projects are funded

After funding, the process starts again, and PB becomes part of the way government works.

HISTORY OF PB

The Brazilian City of Porto Alegre started the first full participatory budgeting process in 1989. Since then, PB has spread to over 3,000 cities around the world, and has been used in counties, states, housing authorities, schools, universities, and other institutions.

We launched the first PB process in the US in 2009.

The White House has endorsed PB as a best practice in civic engagement.

OUTCOMES OF PB

• More civic engagement
• Broader political participation
• New community leaders and more active citizens
• Stronger relationships between government, organizations, and residents
• Fairer and more effective spending
